

IHM SLC Apartments
Report to the IHM Coordinating Council

October 5, 2021

by Teresa Davis, Director of Sales and Marketing

I can't believe it's been almost a year since the doors of the independent living apartments opened here at IHM Senior Living Community. Twelve residents moved in to occupy ten apartments. It was the start of the next chapter in life for them. When I asked how they felt on that first day many said it was like being dropped off at college for the first time. Scared, overwhelmed, excited and nervous all at the same time. One thing they all could agree upon is that it was the best decision that they have ever made. New friendships have formed; they look out for each other and, as one resident said, it feels like we are our own little family. The residents enjoy monthly brunches, nightly card games, book club and working out together. They appreciate going to Chapel, talking to the sisters. They especially enjoy the fact that they don't have to cook.

While I am touring a prospective new occupant, a current resident will often let me show their apartment and answer any questions that the prospective resident may have. Two residents have agreed to be hosts at our lunch and learn next month. I love being a part of this little family. We just hosted the Alzheimer's walk on our campus. Two of our residents distributed information to the walkers about our life plan community. They did not hesitate to tell everyone how great it is to be a resident here.

We are all looking forward to our three new residents moving in, in October.
